

"YES, YES, I SAID IT"—DURYEA

"LIAR," 20 TIMES; "FOOL," 3 OR 4 TIMES; "SLOB," SOMETIMES.

"Knave" and "Idiot" occasionally and "Go to Hell" frequently—And Her Tongue Was Nimble, Too, but She Denies "Go to Hell"—Evidence in the Case All In.

Cheated Duryea took the stand again yesterday morning in the hearing before Justice Blanchard of his wife's suit for a separation on the ground of cruelty. He testified, in response to questions put to him by Francis L. Wellman, Mrs. Duryea's lawyer, that he had often told his wife to go to hell, often meaning, he said, possibly twenty-five or thirty times. He also admitted that on some occasions, when greatly provoked, he had applied to her such affectionate epithets as "idiot," "slob," "dumb" and "fool."

He declared, however, that Mrs. Duryea had frequently called him by similar names and had on many occasions told him to go to the same warm region that he had consigned her to. In fact, he seemed to imply that he acquired the "go to hell" habit from her.

During his cross-examination, Duryea went over the whole ground covered in his direct examination, denying his wife's allegations and asserting that she and her mother were responsible for his family troubles. After being made to tell that he had called his wife a liar perhaps twenty times, a knave possibly twice or thrice, a fool maybe three or four times, an idiot, a pernicious on four or five occasions and a slob only at intervals, Duryea was allowed to leave the stand.

Gen. Henry Duryea, his father, was called to give his unimportant testimony. The defendant's brother, Harry L. Dursea, then testified that he had never heard Mrs. Duryea complain of her husband, but, on the contrary, had repeatedly heard her say that she would never forget his devotion and kindness during her illness. Mrs. Duryea, who was dressed in Sioux City, and so did the witness himself.

This closed the defense, and Lawyer Wellman called Mrs. Duryea in rebuttal. She told of an interview she had with her husband in this city after she had left home. He threatened that if she would not return to him and have him to go to court. When she told him she would seek legal redress he reported that he would fight her all the way until he could succeed in taking the baby from her. He told her his lawyers said she was crazy and he would not let her marry anyone else. She positively denied ever having told her husband to go to hell.

Her testimony closed the trial and Justice Blanchard gave counsel two weeks in which to submit briefs on the legal aspects of the case.

TRAPPED HUSBAND BY 'PHONE.

Mrs. Ellis of Iowa Says He's Been Attentive to a New York Girl.

Mrs. Byrd Wylie Ellis of Davenport, Ia., went to the Jefferson Market police court yesterday and got a summons from her husband, Manly B. Ellis, who, she says, is in a broker's office at 45 Wall street. Mrs. Ellis accuses him of abandonment.

She says that he deserted her in Chicago about seven months ago and came to New York. The first she learned of his whereabouts, she says, was from a letter of the church of which he is a member. The writer, Mrs. Pringle of 229 West 10th street, wanted to know who Ellis was and said that he had been paying attention to Pringle's daughter, Frances.

Mrs. Ellis started for New York at once and reached the hotel where the Pringles were staying. She says, she called up her husband on the telephone and, giving the name of a woman whom she knew was a friend of his, said:

"I am at the Hotel Albert and want to meet you. Don't fail me."

She says he had to look the bait and eat the hook that evening. He got a lively reception, she says. "It isn't true that I thrashed him," she added. "He isn't worth it."

The Pringles said last night that Ellis visited their daughter several times, but that Frances didn't care for him.

FOUNDLING TWINS IN DISPUTE.

Baptized as Catholics, but Protestant Woman Wanted One.

The authorities at Bellevue Hospital were in hot water for a time yesterday on account of the dispute over the possession of the four-days-old twin boys abandoned on Thursday night at 22 Hubert street.

According to the hospital rules, foundlings sent to Bellevue are taken in rotation by Miss Faunie McIntyre of the Guild of the Infant Savior, a Catholic institution, and Miss E. N. Walker, a Protestant.

Mrs. Kate Ryan of 73 Beach street, who found the twins, had them baptized by Father McKenna, at the Church of St. Alphonsus, 101 West Broadway. Miss Walker, however, insisted on taking at least one of the babies.

After listening to arguments, Asst. A. S. Suppe, of the Ricard told Miss Walker she would have to be content with the next two babies found on the streets.

Alexander C. Young Thinks He Knows Who Made Use of His Name.

Wanted by Alexander C. Young, 25 plump persons, Carl at 15 East Twenty-sixth street, Friday, between 2:30 and 4 P.M.

The foregoing advertisement, which appeared in one of the evening newspapers of this city, led many persons to believe that Former Corporation Attorney Alexander C. Young of Hudson County, N. J., had decided to become a theatre manager.

Mr. Young was very indignant when the advertisement was shown him at his law office. He has, however, agreed to act as the attorney for the man who formerly lived at the Twenty-sixth street address, he said. "But I have not been there in some time. It is evident that the person who is responsible for the advertisement is under a delusion. The law, I believe, is that I have no idea who the person is, but am unable to discuss the matter further at this time. I would say, however, that I propose to begin an investigation at once."

W. A. Flagg Left All to His Widow.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Feb. 27.—The will of W. Allston Flagg, who died after a protracted illness at his residence in New York several weeks ago, was admitted to probate at the Morris county Surrogate's office this morning. Practically the entire estate, estimated at $20,000, is left to the widow.

Henry Flagg and John F. Post of the firm of Flagg & Flagg, bankers and brokers, New York, are the executors.

Identified Body of Wreck Victim Buried.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Feb. 27.—It was impossible to identify one body found in the wreck on the New Jersey Central at Westfield on Jan. 27, so it was buried this afternoon after a funeral service in Trinity Reformed Church. The expenses of the funeral were borne by the railroad company. The city officials, as well as the railroad company, made every effort to have the body identified.

Engine Killed Boy, but Did Not Stop.

Joseph Greene, 4 years old, of 609 Henderson street, Jersey City, was run over and killed by a locomotive yesterday afternoon while playing in the Deasore, Lackawanna and Western Railroad yards. The engineer and fireman stopped the engine and the boy's body was found by August Schultz of 149 Adams street, Hoboken.

MRS. EVERETT WINS AT LAST.

FOUGHT 12 YEARS TO SET ASIDE ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE.

Which Was Obtained by Edward Everett, Who Married Her After She Had Left William J. Morrison, with Whom She Had Gone Through a Mock Ceremony.

Supreme Court Justice Dickey in Brooklyn yesterday handed down a decision in the suit of Mrs. Georgia L. Everett against Edward Everett to open a default and set aside the annulment of a marriage secured by the defendant in 1891. Mrs. Everett says that in June, 1878, when 15 years old, at a picnic, she went through a mock marriage with one, William J. Morrison in Providence, R. I., as a joke. Later Morrison demanded that she live with him. Her mother, when Morrison showed what purported to be a certificate of marriage, told her she would seek legal redress he reported that he would fight her all the way until he could succeed in taking the baby from her. He told her his lawyers said she was crazy and he would not let her marry anyone else. She positively denied ever having told her husband to go to hell.

Her testimony closed the trial and Justice Blanchard gave counsel two weeks in which to submit briefs on the legal aspects of the case.
